War Gas Ban Adhered To By England

Geneva—Decision of the British Government to adhere to the Geneva protocol of 1925 prohibiting the use of poison gas in warfare was announced today by Lord Cumendun at the opening of the session of the preparatory disarmament conference. The British spokesman made the single reservation—that reciprocity must prevail—and then made a similar announcement on behalf of Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and the Irish Free State. Dr. Walter A. Riddell, on behalf of Canada, announced his Government had asked Parliament to ratify the protocol also.

Nicolas Politis of Greece expressed the hope that other signatory States which had not yet ratified the protocol would see their way clear to do so. The protocol was that arrived at after American initiation by the League of Nations' traffic-in-arms conference in 1925.

A discussion of tables with respect to the fixing and listing, evaluation, etc., of the maximum armed forces of each nation ensued. Hugh S. Gibson, American spokesman, intervened with the important statement that the United States could accept limitation of naval effectives only provided such limitation was generally accepted and on condition a satisfactory agreement was reached respecting the limitation of warships.

Discussing the figures to be indicated in the cables limiting armed forces, Mr. Gibson pointed out that the legitimate requirements of professional and conscript armies of officers were not commensurate and on his suggestion the following words were deleted: "In order to prevent the number of officers warrant officers and sergeants exceeding the legitimate requirements of each army." With this done, the article in question merely stipulated that the maximum number of officers which the States would undertake not to exceed should be indicated.

During today's discussion M. Politis presided, as President Loudon is suffering from an attack of influenza.

Charlestown Art Exhibit Success

The art exhibition which has been held all the past week at Helmkamp's Music Store, Charlestown, will close tonight.

The exhibition will be open from 7 o'clock to a late hour and it is expected that one of the biggest crowds of the week will be in attendance. More than 800 visitors have registered so far and nearly 200 more visited the exhibition without registering. Visitors included residents from the three Falls Cities and surrounding territory showing a wide interest in art in this section of the state.

The Booklovers' Club of Charlestown, which has sponsored the exhibit is to be congratulated on the success of the venture and it is hoped that the exhibit may become an annual affair.

Louisville Mayor Says Span Will Be Completed Nov. 1

Louisville—Because of the vast amount of steel work yet to be done on the new Municipal Bridge it is doubtful that the structure will be completed by October 1, in time for the national convention of the American Legion, Mayor Harrison said Tuesday after a conference with Frank M. Masters, of Masters and Modjeski, architects and engineers.

"November 1, seems at this time to be a pretty safe bet," Mr. Harrison added, "even that date will be one month ahead of the pre-arranged schedule, which calls for completion by December 1." The contract for the bridge calls for completion by December 1, with a bonus of $750 to the contractor for each day earlier or a penalty of the same amount for each day taken overtime.

Extra crews of workmen have been added to the gangs erecting the steel and favorable weather during the summer may help speed up the job, engineers said.
