Attendance Records Are Broken

Indianapolis—State park attendance records are being shattered, Richard Lieber, state conservation director, said today.

People are aware that state parks offer about the most comfortable places in the commonwealth to spend a week-end, and each park shows splendid attendance, he said.

Attendance is unusually heavy at the Dunes and Pokagon—both lake parks—as well as Turkey Run, Clifty and McCormick's Creek Canyon. The three latter reservations are heavily wooded tracts with great ravines and numerous foot trails penetrating an almost primitive forest recess. Naturally the hot weather does not reach these secluded spots and relief is found from torrid conditions elsewhere.

McCormick's Creek Park has the further advantage of a modern bathing pool in which the water is filtered and chlorinated three times daily. In view that many of the state's streams are at extreme low water stage now and therefore unfit for bath bathing, this modern park pool, sanitary in every respect, is a most popular place.

All Indiana's state parks are accessible over splendid state highways and where pavement does not lead to the park, the unpaved roads have been treated, making them dustless.

The administration hope is to have the bill ready for the inevitable debate by September 4, with the likelihood of further postponement, for the highly controversial feature that which practically alienates the Congressional prerogative of finally fixing tariff rates and bestowing that power on the President and the Secretary of the Treasury—is not to be taken up until after the original date set for a completion of the whole bill.

The reason for all the confusion and demoralization is the inate dishonesty of the intended legislation. The abandonment of the difference in costs between the American and foreign production and the substitution of a system intended to guarantee profits to business—that by reason of mismanagement, failure to keep pace with new processes, or for other reasons feel the pinch of competition—has thrown the whole machine out of gear.

According to the New York Times Offers Rescess

"Now Jim Watson, growing more melancholy every day, proposes to offer to the Senate a series of three day recesses, until September 4. That doesn't necessarily mean that the debate will start on that day. Senator Smoot's troubles are insurmountable. He may be forced by dissatisfied Republican colleagues, just as Mr. Hawley was in the House, to set this committee at work again and re-tinker its tinkering."

In their dilemma, the administration Senators are gradually crowding their colleagues into bringing in a bill carrying a roster of schedules higher than the Hawley rates, which produced a protest throughout the country exceeding in volume and intensity anything of the sort since the Payne-Adlrich tariff reduced the Taft administration.

The promise of relief to the farmer, which was President Hoover's excuse for calling this extra session, is no longer mentioned.

As Senator Wheeler, of Montana expressed it the other day:

"Desire to increase prices was the only justification for higher duties on sugar, cement, brick, lumber, glass ware and scores of other manufactures."

"Revision of the tariff undertaken ostensibly to improve the economic condition of farmers, is thus perverted into an orgy of price lifting and price insurance which will lay new and heavy burdens on farmers."

"Economists of the University of Wisconsin have stated that the rates of the Hawley bill will do farmers more harm than good. They will pay a dollar in higher living costs for every dime of 'protection' they receive through higher duties on farm products."

Senator Wheeler has adduced the Tariff Commission's own figures to show that the duties levied on a variety of products approximate, or exceed the total value of the imports on those items. Among the items he mentioned were razors, clocks, window glass, plate glass, cigars and cigarettes, wearing apparel, including silk and heavy wool and Cuban sugar. This, as Taft pointed out when he was President, is merely insuring high prices.

"It has been estimated," said Senator Wheeler, "that the price insurance scheme of the Hawley bill will lay a new burden of cost on the consumer of approximately $70,000,000, notwithstanding the Department of Commerce has just reported that our industries are enjoying great prosperity under existing rates. The burden will be translated into decreased consumption, curtailed factory output and an increase of unemployment."

It is no wonder that the administration Senators, confronted with such figures are at sixes and sevens in their effort to grant dividends to the big contributors to last year's Republican campaign.

ing car, driven by Sylvester Bowers, 21, 1217 Watt street, Jeffersonville. The car which was filled with Negroes all of whom sustained minor injuries hurled around by force of the collision with Prather's car and crashed into an army truck driven by Private Buford McCowan, Battery F, 150th Field Artillery, Indiana National Guards. McCowan was pulling a truck steered by Sergt. Marshall Goetz. Goetz said that soldiers attempted to apply the brakes when they saw the touring car being hurled in the path of the truck, however, they were unable to do so in time to avert the collision.

Immediately following the crash, Prather and three of the Negroes were brought to the Hospital at Jeffersonville. Prather and Smith were the only ones who were reported to be severely injured.

Other occupants of the touring car were Walter Marshall, 20, negro, Locust street and Charles Washington, 18, Walnut street, both of Jeffersonville.

Miss Clara Allen, 32, a teacher in the Salem High School, sustained a fractured skull in an accident near Paoli, Ind., at 9 o'clock Sunday morning when her motor crashed into a tree. Little hope for her recovery was held by physicians who treated her at St. Anthony's hospital, Louisville.

According to reports, there were no witnesses to the accident. Miss Allen was found unconscious in her wrecked automobile by a family living four miles east of Paoli. She was taken into the house and a physician was called. Mrs. Allen is said to have left home at 8 o'clock Sunday morning for Vincennes where she expected to spend a week with a friend. Apparently she lost control of the automobile when she encountered loose rock recently put on Indiana State Highway 56 near the scene of the accident.

Fireproof Match Is Invented By Scientists

Washington—A self extinguishing cigarette and a fireproof match are now on the horizon of science.

At the request of Representative Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts scientists at the Bureau of Standards in six-months' test of nine popular brands, have evolved a "safety cigarette." Its fire-protection factor lies in an inch-long cork tip, lined with water glass-air-excluding sodium silicate.

Their interest increasing as the work progressed, the scientists also have developed a fireproof match, coated with waterglass within a half-inch of its head.

Tossed aside as a rag-end, the self extinguishing cigarette was found in tests to go out quickly enough to reduce the fire hazard some 90 per cent as compared with the untreated cigarette. Possibilities of accidental fires were reduced approximately one third by the fire-proofed matches.

An annual fire loss of approximately $90,000,000 from carelessness of smokers prompted Representative Rogers to ask scientific aid. P. D. Sale and F. M. Hoffheins, under supervision of S. H. Ingbert, chief of the resistance laboratory, attacked the problem.

Recognizing human habits as an important factor, they studied discarded cigarette stubs in highways, byways and building corridors. By scientific measurements, they learned that a 1 1/2 cigarette stub is between 1 and one-half inches long. The long cigarette is seldom discarded except at entrances of buildings, where it hits the pavement and does no damage.

Bridge Worker Loses Auto License

Oliver Braden, bridge worker, 501 Ohio avenue, Jeffersonville, was fined a total of $55 and had his automobile drivers license revoked for a year Monday morning in the Jeffersonville City Court when he was convicted of a charge of crashing into a car driven by Warren G. Bushfield at Maple street and Meigs avenue at 9 o'clock Sunday night.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bushfield, wife of the driver and her daughter-in-law, wife of Elmer G. Bushfield, Brighton, were slightly injured in the crash. It was alleged that Braden failed to stop at the intersection, and the force of the collision threw the two cars into the yard of M. D. Schlosser's residence on the southeast corner of the intersection.

Both women were taken into the Schlosser residence and given first aid treatment. From there they were taken to the Elmer Bushfield home, where they are reported to be improving satisfactorily.

On August 16th Judge Paris in delivering an injunction proceeding said:

"The sheriff has a right to confiscate all the property to operate the dog races, just as he has a right to confiscate all the property of a gambling paraphernalia of any sort. He can back up a dog race at any place and haul away any betting paraphernalia if open gambling can take place at this dog track in Lido Venice or in any other place in this county. If an effort is made by law enforcing officers to suppress the same, they have not come to a place in Indiana where law enforcement officers have not an injunction, for we not only have laws but complete remedies. The only remedy is to have the law enforcement officers to make an honest effort to enforce the law and in the end law will prevail."

U. S. WEEKLY INDUSTRIAL REVIEW

Business Conditions

Commercial transactions during the second week of August, as indicated by the volume of check payments, were greater than in either the preceding week or the corresponding period of 1928. Industrial activity, as reflected by operations in steel plants, showed some let-up from the preceding week but was still considerably higher than at this time a year ago. The movement of freight by rail was running substantially higher than this year, indicating a gain in the distribution of commodities through primary channels.

The general level of wholesale prices showed a further recession from the preceding week and was two per cent lower than in the corresponding period of 1928. Bank loans and discounts showed practically no change from the previous week but were higher than a year ago. Interest rates on time funds averaged higher than in either period, while rates on call money, showing a decline from the preceding week, were substantially higher than last year. Prices for stocks on the New York Stock Exchange averaged lower than in the preceding week but were higher than a year ago, while bond prices showed declines from both periods. Fewer business failures were recorded for the week than in the corresponding period of last year.

Conditions, Foreign Countries

Improvement in the German situation was temporarily checked at the beginning of August, partly from seasonal causes and partly from the uncertainty of international developments; financial strain has maintained industrial production is well maintained; crop prospects are satisfactory. Industrial improvement in France was emphasized during July with cotton, metallurgy and machinery active, and with textiles somewhat improved; crop conditions are again satisfactory, the drought having been broken. Summer dullness prevails in Spain; rains have put the wheat crop in excellent condition but were too late for other crops; the government has announced a program for consolidating all
